PROPOSED

Statement of Purpose and Effect: The proposed revision to the composition of the Medical School Progress and Promotions Committee will enable the school of medicine to revise its student appeals policy to improve responsiveness to student appeals while reduce duplication of faculty effort. This allows the School of Medicine to reform its student appeals process to make this committee the principal faculty forum for student appeals while ensuring senate shared governance participation in the process. This also bring UCR medical school in line with best practices of other UC Medical Schools when it comes to handling student appeals.
